Gentlemen:

We sent your list of Chinese coins, which we received from the Metropolitan Museum, to one of our members,-the only one we know of in this country who would be interested in a collection of this kind. We have not yet heard from him and we are to-day writing to ask his decision. We will let you know as soon as we have his reply.

Our institution is not interested to purchase this collection, and we do not know of anyone else, or any other institution in this country who would be interested.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
